

CAMBRIDGE & BREXIT

MAPPING AN UNCERTAIN FUTURE

THE CONFERENCE

Friday 24th February 2017, 1-8 pm – The Guildhall, Cambridge

A space of reflection and discussion for the Greater Cambridge community (town, gown, and beyond) on the UK's present and future relationship with the EU as seen from Cambridge.

ACADEMIC CONFERENCE 1:15–2:30 pm

Political scientists will present their latest research on 'Brexit and local communities' for discussion with the audience

PANEL PRESENTATIONS 3–4:30 pm

Prominent members of the community will share their views on the impacts and opportunities of Brexit for various key sectors of the Greater Cambridge economic and social life

ROUNDTABLES 5–7.30 pm

Moderated roundtable discussions focussing on specific areas likely to be affected by the Brexit negotiations. Everyone will be encouraged to chip in, so as to single out the priorities which matter most to the Greater Cambridge community, and to sketch out some negotiations outcomes likely to benefit, or to impact negatively, the said community.

The Conference is open to all. Places available online at <http://bit.ly/2hBwD8M> and on the door

THE CAMBRIDGE BREXIT REPORT

Out on Monday 20th March 2017

A first attempt at mapping the future of Cambridge and Brexit

The chapter drafts are prepared by teams of editors which include local residents, academics, entrepreneurs, students, politicians, and other members of the Greater Cambridge community. These will be complemented by the Conference's proceedings and conclusions, particularly the output of the Roundtable discussions. The final Report will be a first attempt to outline where Cambridge can go from here.
